Dr. Maria Montessori

MONTESSORI METHODOLOGY

Dr. Maria Montessori became the first female doctor in her country's history. Born in 1870, in Italy, during a generation where education may not have been best understood, her greatest achievement as a pioneer in early childhood education was to recognize a child's first six years as being crucial to his or her overall development. She translated her philosophy into three simple principles:

- 1) Independence
- 2) Freedom within limits
- 3) Respect for our children's natural physiological developments

The unique quality of the Montessori Method of Education is embedded in its design that is specifically for the critical period of a child's development. The five key areas of the Montessori Method are;

Sensory – measuring distinctions through their senses

Practical Life – building a sense of independence

Language – a phonics based system

Mathematics – converting concrete objects into abstract numbers

Cultural Studies – learning about their world

These carefully designed programmes are delivered in a planned environment to bring out the highest potential of each individual child.
